

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT DIRECTED STUDIES PROPOSAL FORM

Directed Studies: EN 329 and 429 are independent study opportunities. After having made arrangements with a specific instructor to act as a supervisor for the class, students will construct a detailed syllabus that includes a core reading list and writing component. The difference between the two classes is the same as the difference between 300 and 400-level English classes. The expectation is that both the reading and writing load will be greater for the 400-level class.

By signing this form, you agree to act as supervisor for the proposed Directed Study and support the requirements of the class for the 15 week semester: reading list, writing assignments or additional work, and assessment of completed work.

Requirements: Along with this completed form, please provide the additional documents

1) A syllabus that includes:

- A complete reading list
- The work you expect to accomplish in each of the 15 weeks that constitutes the Fall/Spring semester (10 weeks if enrolled during the summer).

2) A statement of evaluation. In a paragraph or two, please clearly state how your work will be evaluated (papers, reading responses, quizzes, tests, etc). Those students requesting EN 429, you must also explain why this directed study should count as a 400-level upper division class.

Please have your faculty supervisor sign both of these additional documents. Completed proposals with additional materials should be submitted to MR 103 for approval.
