English: Learn Outside the Book

As a member of our department—whether an English major or one of our minors—you can find your place, make your mark, and enhance your college experience.

Build the Community

- English Majors/Minors Association (EMMA): Gather for enrichment and service
- Student Writers Guild: Share your writing, sponsor readings and workshops
- Book Clubs: Discuss your favorite books with fellow readers

Focus on Achievement

- Scholarships and Writing Prizes: Compete for academic scholarships and awards
- Honors Program: Take honors classes, work with a faculty mentor, write a thesis
- Sigma Tau Delta: Join our chapter of the International English Honor Society

Be a Literary Citizen

- Slash Pine Press: Intern with our chapbook press, work for the annual literary festival
- Dewpoint: Work on the staff of Sigma Tau Delta's literary review
- Master Class Series: Learn craft and career skills from faculty and visiting writers
- Marr's Field Journal, New College Review, Alice, Black Warrior Review: Edit, design, or write for any of these campus publications

Extend your Education

- Study Abroad: Spend a term in Oxford, Ireland, South Africa, or elsewhere
- Visiting Writers Series: Encounter and learn from established and emerging authors
- Strode Program: Attend seminars and lectures, Shakespeare on Film, and more

Prepare for your Career

- Professional Development: Explore options for meaningful work and grad school
- Writing Center: Become a tutor and help peers improve their writing skills
- Internships: Complete an internship and gain valuable skills while taking classes
- Career Fairs: Make contacts and network with prospective employers
